Heather & Fern Brooks

Last year Heather Brooks won the competition to loan the 'Promenaders - Charles Steer' Salvi concert harp. Already a student at the Purcell School, she is joined there this autumn by her younger sister Fern, who now shares the Cherubim harp. We are delighted to welcome them to Tisbury for the first time.

Heather started playing the harp at 10 with Professor Daphne Boden and has passed her Grade 8 with distinction. Heather's successes include prizes at Croydon, Bromley and North London Music Festivals, as a soloist, composer and in ensemble. Despite her youth, she was third in the 2015 Rotary Young Musician of the Year. Heather is a section leader for the 30-strong National Youth Harp Orchestra, and conductor's assistant for the Training Orchestra. The NYHO premiered her World Harp Symphony at St Georges Chapel Windsor Castle last year.

Heather has performed solos at Cadogan Hall, Menuhin Hall and Croydon Fairfield Halls. As a result of winning the Purcell School Student Showcase she will be performing at the Wigmore Hall on 21st September 2016. In addition to her harp from Cherubim Music Trust, she is a beneficiary of the Robert Bouffler Music Trust. In her spare time Heather is a keen campanologist and in April she rang her first quarter peel.

Fern started harp two years ago with Luisa Cordell and recently gained a distinction in Grade 3. She now has a Music and Dance Scholarship at the Purcell Music School, and is also in the National Youth Harp Training Orchestra. Meanwhile she is also an advanced trampolinist and member of an elite gymnastic squad of the Gatwick Flyers.

As an experiment we are inviting you to make a donation in place of an admission charge.

Although there is not a charge for the concert it will help us to estimate numbers if you book in the normal way.

In aid of Cherubim Music Trust, a Tisbury-based charity that loans professional-calibre orchestral instruments nationally to advanced music students, aged 15-25, who cannot afford one that matches their ability. Founded in 2001 by Clancy Steer, the Trust now owns over 30 instruments loaned on 5 year terms.
