Ansty

Aerial Survey Of St James' Church Ansty

On 20 April Alex Oldfield of Waypoint Aerial carried out an aerial survey of the roof of St James' Church Ansty using a camera-equipped drone. The images will be used to review the condition of the roof, in order to help identify problematic areas and act as a guide for repair work. The drone provided a safe and unintrusive way of gaining images of problem and hard to reach areas, which would otherwise have required extensive scaffolding to reach.

As we collected a large number of overlapping images of the roof we were also able to process these using photogrammetric software to create a 3D model of the roof, which is useful both architecturally and to provide an overview of the roof as a whole.

‘They Went to War’

General leads charge to November evening ‘Sell-out’

Details are published in this edition of a special concert ‘They Went To War’, to be held on 2nd & 3rd November at Dinton Village Hall. General Sir Jack Deverell is part of a small team presenting an evening of music, song, readings and poetry of the Great War – the First World War as it later became known.

The Wilton Royal British Legion Band, conducted by Trevor Dacombe, and the ‘Valley Choir’ from Fovant, conducted by Brian White, will take part throughout the evening, which is to celebrate the service of the men and women of the Nadder Valley who went to war in 1914 and to commemorate the lives of those who didn't return. The programme will give those who now live in the valley (East Knoyle to Wilton) the opportunity to reflect upon how the War affected the lives of those who lived here then. It will include a short Act of Remembrance and offer a rare chance for a rousing audience sing-song of still familiar songs from 100 years ago.

Sir Jack reports "since 2014 local people have shown great interest in events commemorating the 100th anniversary of the War – we believe that 'They went to War' will draw people together from the valley to hear what it was like to live through those four tumultuous years of war, both nationally and locally". He goes on "we have been amazed by the interest already shown by people. Tickets will be on sale from 1st August and we expect a sell-out on both nights". No doubt a date for our November diaries – full details will be announced in the Summer.
